The Council also discussed topics for the four in-person meetings around the state. Suggested topics included: women in the trades, labor, and nontraditional fields, Medicare fraud and other scams targeting seniors, status of child care industry, women in agriculture, and boundaries/civic discourse.

5) Director’s Report: J. Cole reported that the Hmong Women’s Story Cloth exhibit was still on display at the Neville Public Museum and would be up until January 2024. After January, it will move to its permanent home at The Hmong Institute in Madison; however, it can travel upon request.

J. Cole shared a brief update on the Status of Women Research (IWPR) project. The Steering Committee held a meeting with the Institute for Women’s Policy Research to discuss the scope of the project. IWPR is preparing a project proposal, draft timeline, and a budget for the committee to consider by the end of January 2024.

6) Updates from Council Members: N. Nelson shared that she was working to activate people in Stevens Point to find a solution around issues of elderly women’s access to a healthcare center. She also noted that a woman-owned print making studio had a fire and Stevens Point locals were stepping up to help them recover.

Lt. Governor Rodriguez shared that the Wisconsin nursing apprenticeship program recently launched, and it’s the first of its kind in the nation. She also plugged the Higher Educational Aids Board’s nurse educator program and forgivable loan awards.

7) Closing Remarks and Adjournment – Chair Gaumer Hutchison thanked all for attending, both in-person and virtually.

Meeting adjourned at 2:52 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Jenifer Cole

Executive Director, Wisconsin Women's Council
