Katie Mnuk

Oregon

Katie Mnuk is currently Chief Executive Officer of the Lakeland Care District ☐ a regional, Managed-Care Organization in Northeastern Wisconsin providing Medicaid-funded long-term care services to more than 2,700 frail elders and people with disabilities. Prior to her role in creating and now overseeing the organization, she helped develop and market a new, first-of-its-kind statewide health insurance cooperative for Wisconsin farmers and agribusinesses.

Ms. Mnuk's career in the public policy area spans nearly three decades. She served as the Wisconsin Women's Council's Executive Director from 1998 to 2002. In that position, she successfully launched several projects aimed at assisting Wisconsin women, including the Council's Blueprint for Financial Literacy and represented the Council on the Governor's Task Force on Financial Education. She has also served in leadership staff, policy analysis and constituent services positions with the Wisconsin State Legislature, as well as public policy roles at agencies in the Executive branch of state government.

Ms. Mnuk is a licensed health insurance professional and a member of TEMPO-Madison. She has served on the Boards of Wisconsin Women in Government and Girl Scouts of Black Hawk Council. She was honored to be named to Madison's InBusiness magazine's "40 Under 40" List. Ms. Mnuk and her husband reside in the Madison area.
